Everyone--

I asked Loleita about coming to our banquet this Saturday. She was very excited about the invitation and is definitely going to be there. However, she was curious if her husband could go and if he would be paid for. I was not certain so I told her I would find out and get back with her. But, she had to ask him if he did want to go. I was going to talk with her this afternoon so can anyone answer her question for me?
